

BungyPump Instructions For Safe Use

Improper use can result in serious injury or death.

BungyPump is a spring-loaded exercise aid.

Consult a physician prior to starting an exercise program. If at any time during exercise you feel faint, dizzy or experience pain, stop and consult your physician.

BungyPump is not a cane or hiking/trekking pole and is not designed for people who want assistance walking, hiking, or keeping their balance. Use BungyPump only in areas where you can walk unassisted and maintain your balance without assistance from the BungyPump.

Inspect your BungyPump before use.

Carefully inspect the surface of the pole for any signs of damage. If the training poles look or feel damaged, or if excessive force is applied, they may fail.

Use the BungyPump appropriately:

- Always use the hand straps to avoid losing control of the compressed pole. Do not compress the pole when the handle or tip are near your face.
- Keep away from pinch hazards when compressing the pole.
- Do not use the BungyPump on stairs. Use of the BungyPump on stairs can result in serious injury or death from falling.
- The tungsten tip is sharp. Use the rubber boot in areas where the tungsten tip could cause damage or if near anyone who is barefoot or in open-toed shoes.

Limited Warranty

Your BungyPump™ training poles come with a Limited Warranty for a period of one year after purchase. Please see the Limited Warranty terms and conditions contained within the original BungyPump™ packaging for complete details.
